Crime Reconstruction for the Criminal Profiler

8th & 9th April 2006

Jointly Sponsored by
Forensic Criminology Services

Forensic Solutions

What is Criminal Profiling?

Criminal profiling is the process of inferring personality and behavioural characteristics from the physical evidence left by an offender at a crime scene. Ultimately, the whole process should work from a holistic reconstruction of the events surrounding the criminal act.

What are the aims of the seminar?

- * Provide an overview of the theory of criminal profiling
- * Develop an appreciation of the process of criminal profiling
- * Understand the role of crime reconstruction in profiling
- * Apply crime scene reconstruction to the profiling process
- * Overview forensic investigative processes

Who will benefit from the seminar?

- * Law Enforcement and Intelligence Officers
- * Security Specialists
- * Lawyers and Paralegal staff
- * Academics and Students
- * Scenes of Crime and other forensic personnel
- * Forensic Consultants

** Places are strictly limited and will fill fast**

Seminar Outline

Day One

The first day will be dedicated to understanding the process of crime scene reconstruction and its role in individual cases.

- * Crime Reconstruction: A Holistic Approach
- * Methods of Crime Reconstruction
- * Reconstruction and Practice Standards
- * Case Study: California v Matt and Jennifer Fletcher (homicide of a police officer)
- * Case Study: Ohio v Clarence Elkins (sexual homicide and child rape)

Day Two

The second day will focus on the role of reconstruction in criminal profiling.

- * Criminal Profiling and Behavioural Evidence
- * Victimology
- * Principles of Behavioural Evidence Analysis
- * Inferring Offender Characteristics
- * Case Study: California v Graham (child sexual homicide)
- * Case Study: Nevada Kristin “Blaise” Lobato (homicide with sexual mutilation)
- * Case Study: R v Joseph Russo (double homicide)

Each session will be an equal balance of theory and practice and appropriate case studies will be used to highlight specific areas. Each day will run from 9am—5pm. Dress is informal/casual. Delegates should bring writing material. Tea and coffee will be supplied.

Copies of Criminal Profiling will be available at a discounted rate at the seminar.

Copies of Serial Crime: Theoretical and Practical Issues in Behavioural Profiling will be available at a discounted rate at the seminar.
